

SOMMELIER'S SELECTION

Balassa Szent Tamás Tokaji Furmint, 2019 47 500/bottle

The Szent Tamás vinyard shows an overwhelming excellence, complexity and minerality from the diverse volcanic soil. Furmint is a very sharp and elegant style wine which is the best way to express the uniqueness of the Hungarian terroirs. Intense aromas of citrus fruits, wet stone and peach explode in the glass, followed by a juicy palate with refined acidity and considerable oak in the background. Creamy, smooth and perfectly round; this is a well-balanced vintage for true wine lovers and connoisseurs. Must try wine wine, especially with our seafood dishes.

Figula Köves, 2020 58 500/bottle

The most unique experience from the Balaton wine region. An absolute rare selection from the winemaker of the year 2022. Köves is a parcel selected cuvée from the best spots of the Gella vinyard. Two local grape, 70% Olaszrizling and 30% Furmint, makes the unique cuvée. Real terroir wine with ripened white fruits, dried pineapple, a touch of cinnamon and vanilla in addition to fresh ginger. Amazing complexity, sharp minerality, fullness of citrus and smooth finish. This rare production provides 1 306 bottles a year, recommended to discover the uniqueness and elegance of Hungarian wine production.

St. Andrea Agapé Egri Bikavér Grand Superior, 2016 97 500/bottle

Hungary's traditional wine brand is the Bikavér (Bull's Blood), which can be produced in Eger or Szekszárd regions. This blend is always focusing on Kékfrankos, local grape variety in addition to international grapes. Agapé is the highest quality wine from the famous St. Andrea winery. The Nagy-Eged hill is the only limestone hill in the region with such a micro-climate effect, that brings this vineyard to the one and only „Grand Cru terroir” in Hungary. Amazing deep dark fruit aromas combined with an elegant spiciness and pronounced minerality, which makes a beautiful everlasting finish. Such unique aroma characters and complexity reminds for the Super Tuscan wines. A real must try top quality wine from Hungary.

Kiss Gábor, Missing One Cuvée, 2017 75 500/bottle

A real big player from Villány, our famous red wine region. 'Missing One' is a Bordeaux blend wine with a unique Hungarian grape variety, called Kékfrankos, added. The 4 grape variety possesses intense notes of dried plum, black cherry, dark chocolate, cigarbox and coffee. A very well balanced red blend with an elegant ripen flavour. A real pleasure to enjoy such cuvée.

Szepsy Tokaji Aszú 6 Puttonyos, 2016 62 500/bottle

Hungary's most well-known and most famous wine is the Aszú from the Tokaj Region which is the UNESCO World Heritage site. Aszú wines are considered as one of the best dessert wines in the world and this is special due to the naturally occurring phenomenon noble rot (called „botrytis”), which produces sweet dessert wines. Dried fruits, such as fig and orange, perfectly harmonize earl grey, honey and nectar flavours. A real must try experience with our cheese platter or any dessert.

I wish you a wonderful gastronomical experience

THE 8 MAIN WINE REGIONS IN HUNGARY

EGER

PANNONHALMA

An excellent balance between freshness on one side, and ripe fullness on the other is evident in the white and red wines of Pannonhalmi Apátság, the 1 000 plus year old monastery that reestablished its wine making tradition over a decade ago after a long hiatus.

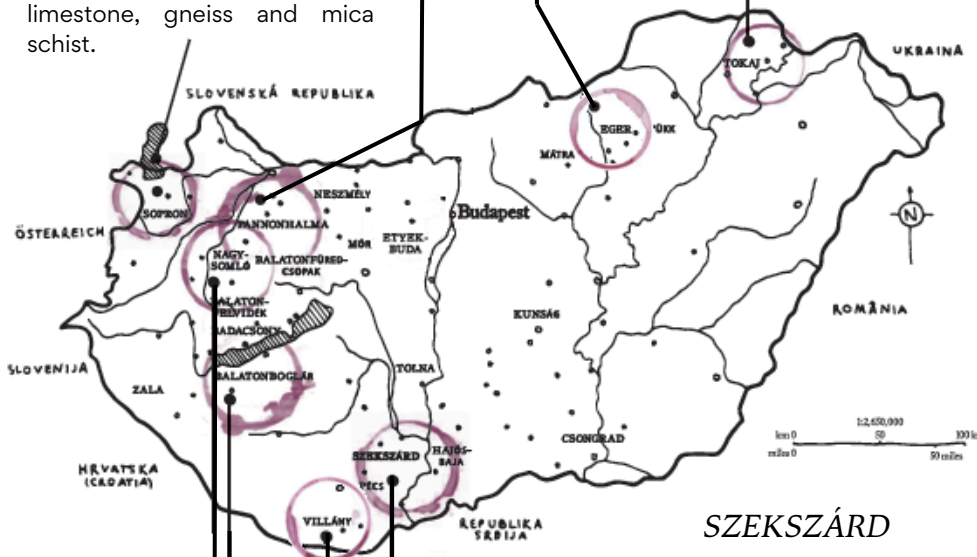

One of the oldest wine regions in Hungary, where the most famous and traditional Hungarian blended wines are produced. The white cuvées are called Egeri Csillag and the reds are Egeri Bikavér. Grand Superior wines are focused on specific vineyard selections, which means the highest quality in the region. Vines are grown on Vulcanic or limestone soil which gives nice minerality and full-bodied structures for the wine.

SOPRON

Hungary's 'Capital of Kékfrankos' is living up to its name with the best of its classy, cooler climate Kékfrankos wines. Worthy of comparison to the brilliant Blaufränkisch made just across the Austrian border in Burgenland. Sopron has an exciting mix of soils including limestone, gneiss and mica schist.

TOKAJ

Unesco listed Tokaj is Hungary's best-known wine region, where the conditions are ripe for noble rot' to occur and create the sumptuously sweet Tokaji Aszú, one of the world's greatest wines. Tokaj's dry wines are also increasingly impressing international wine critics.

SOMLÓ

Hungary's smallest wine region that produces some of the country's biggest whites: complex, mineral-infused Juhfark, Furmint, Hárslevelű and which originate from a single volcanic hill of basalt rock. Kreinbacher is brilliantly pioneering traditional method sparkling wines in the region.

SZEKSZÁRD

Ripe Kékfrankos with a juicy sour cherry note is coming into its own as a single varietal wine, as well as bringing its structure and energy to the region's Bikavér (Bull's Blood), and other red blends. Szekszárd's Bikavér is also spiced up with a small amount of the Kadarka grape, which by itself makes a light coloured but spicy and distinctive red.

BALATON

Many microclimates and varying soils make for a wide variety of wine styles around Central Europe's largest lake, Balaton which also exerts a moderating influence. A rough distinction can be drawn between the mineral wines from the predominantly volcanic and limestone soils of the northern shore and the fruitier, rounder wines from the southern shore.

VILLÁNY

Sub-mediterranean climate and limestone soil gives a ripen taste for the wines on the south of Hungary. Mostly red wines, usually Bordeaux blends are produced in the region. It is a well-known fact that the winemakers of Villány were the first to recognise the power of quality and cooperation on the market, even before the regime change.
